A valuable resource

The time has come again to share the very best of the fine food and drink industry with you all – and I'm proud to say that this year's Stock Check Book is the best ever.

It's filled to the brim with exciting new products, all hand-picked by the Speciality Food team, and is sure to fill your shelves with products your customers will love.

Everything from crisps and snacks to meat, ready meals, hot drinks and kombucha is included within these pages, so there's no excuse not to impress your audience with the best our sector has to offer.

We've created sections for each of the sectors on your tick list so this sizeable resource is easy to navigate, plus highlighted our top picks on each spread.

I hope you find it an invaluable stocking tool for the next 12 months and beyond.

Until next year,

Holly

GRUYÈRE AOP

Made in western Switzerland, Gruyère AOP has been produced in the same way since 1115AD, using raw milk from cows fed on grass in summer and hay in winter. The skilled cheesemakers use 400 litres of fresh milk to make a single 35kg Gruyère AOP wheel. It is the only cheese that has won the title of Best Cheese in the World at the World Cheese Awards four times, which just goes to show how much work and skill is needed to create its unique and delicious flavour.

Gruyère AOP can be found with different maturities: the Classic is matured for a minimum of five months and has a delicate, nutty, creamy flavour. The Reserve is matured for a minimum of ten months and has a drier, more grainy mouthfeel, with a stronger flavour. The age brings a difference in taste but the recipe always stays the same.

SHEPHERDS PURSE

Made by Shepherds Purse Cheese in North Yorkshire, Bluemin white was the first cheese developed by second generation cheesemaker Katie Matten (nee Bell) and among its many accolades it has won a three-star Great Taste Award, Super Golds and Golds at the World Cheese Awards, and Golds at British Cheese Awards.

Bluemin White is a rich and creamy blue mould ripened cheese. Described sometimes as "blue Brie-style cheese" this doesn't quite do this little gem justice. The cheese is made in small batches and matured in Shepherds Purse's unique ripening stores, it develops a velvety blue rind and as it ripens gently from the outside in, it develops earthy, mushroom and eventually nutty notes.

LUDLOW FARM

ludlowfarmshop.co.uk

If you're looking for traditionally made jam or marmalade, the Ludlow Farm range produced at Ludlow Farmshop provides the perfect blend of classic and innovative.

They are seasonally made in small batches using fruit from the walled garden or, where possible, locally sourced ingredients. The process used to make them is the same as you would use at home, no artificial preservatives are used and the 'wrinkle test' is always applied. These traditional methods deliver exceptional quality time after time.

The range has received many awards, with the Apricot, Almond and Amaretto Jam receiving 2 gold stars at the Great Taste Awards 2022.

Ludlow Farm jars are available for retail wholesale.

A new direction in hardworking/planet responsible surface cleaners.

Cert offers a new direction in eco-friendly cleaners, a cost-effective, hospital-grade, anti-viral spray that can be applied to any surface.

As one of a new generation of dosage tablet plus tap water propositions, Cert provides the perfect balance of cleaning and disinfection, that's as effective as bleach but without any of the hazardous downsides.

Cert is a common-sense sprayer PLUS tablet format (refill-and-reuse), which means we offer a welcome respite from the tired practices of single-use plastic bottles which places precious water in limbo whilst pushing air-polluting, synthetic fragrances.

Our simple, no-fuss focus is keeping bacteria and germs at bay!

2023 SPECIALITY FOOD MAGAZINE STOCK CHECK essential

Bolle revisits the Low/No sparkling wine conundrum with fresh eyes and ideas. Revolutionary Zero Gradi technology means that heavy-handed dealcoholisation has been rejected in favour of cunning fox 'magic yeast' that feasts on juice sugars without creating alcohol.

The result is an elegantly crisp White & Rose that are not only reassuringly light in calories, but the perfect companions for your favourite meals.

A growing 'sober curious' movement coupled with a flourishing healthier living agenda means that alcohol bingeing rituals seem increasingly out of kilter with modern life.

Maybe this is the moment to raise your glass to Bolle?

Made in western Switzerland, Gruyère AOP has been produced in the same way since 1115AD, using raw milk from cows fed on grass in summer and hay in winter. The skilled cheesemakers use 400 litres of fresh milk to make a single 35kg Gruyère AOP wheel. It is the only cheese that has won the title of Best Cheese in the World at the World Cheese Awards four times, which just goes to show how much work and skill is needed to create its unique and delicious flavour.

Gruyère AOP can be found with different maturities: the Classic is matured for a minimum of five months and has a delicate, nutty, creamy flavour. The Reserve is matured for a minimum of ten months and has a drier, more grainy mouthfeel, with a stronger flavour. The age brings a difference in taste but the recipe always stays the same.

HOW INDIES CAN CAPITALISE ON SHOPPERS' LACK OF TRUST IN SUPERMARKETS

As shoppers increasingly distrust the multiples, independent fine food retailers have a key opportunity to cash in on

A recent survey from YouGov has revealed that 43% of shoppers now distrust supermarkets, believing the quality of food being sold is declining. They also feared that UK standards will be undermined by changing regulations and trade deals.

This provides a key opportunity for indies to cash in, by offering quality, trust and a personal touch.

In fact, according to Martin McTague, national chair of the Federation of Small Businesses, "Our own recent research with Public First shows consumers prefer to shop at a small business because they want to support the local economy (72%), like the personalised service (49%) and prefer the experience (38%).".

The independent opportunity

With more shoppers looking for higher quality produce for their money in the cost-of-living crisis, fine food retailers can help to provide more bang for your buck.

As Mark Kacary, managing director of Norfolk Deli, explained, "Much of what we offer is exactly what's missing in the supermarkets. We offer a bit of theatre an experience in that many people will comment on what a lovely smell there is when they walk in, and that is because much of what is available and visible is made in the shop."

Cat Morley, general manager at Yolk Farm and Minskip Farm Shop, added, "When the pandemic hit, we saw a huge increase in footfall to our shop; there was a positive shift in customers' mindset from supermarkets to independent retailers. This happened organically as we already provided such a safe environment to shop, with beautifully fresh and healthy produce. We gained the trust of many new customers as well as maintaining our regular customer base.

"We believe that by maintaining the same high standards, continuing to offer reliable fresh produce and offering them a more personal, knowledgeable and hands-on experience, this is how independent retailers can capitalise on this opportunity. We value our customers incredibly and they value us."

According to Jeff Moody, commercial director at the British Independent Retail Association (Bira), "Shopping local has now become a mantra as consumers try to reduce fuel costs and whilst also trusting in the offering independent retailers offer."

Gaining the trust of shoppers

According to Mark, "Individually it's hard for the message to get across to the consumers that there is a viable alternative to supermarkets, especially if the supermarkets are turning people's heads with marketing campaigns where it is all about price."

Martin added, "Independent retailers are encouraged to sign up for the Good Business Charter accreditation to stand out from the crowd and lead the way on important issues, including their commitment to customers. With this accreditation, small businesses can demonstrate a clear message to consumers that they are committed to operating responsibly and become part of a bigger movement to change business for the better."

Mark concluded, "The only way in which independents can take advantage of any level of distrust the public may be having is to work creatively and find ways in which we can engage with the public and show them there are alternatives. Alternatives which may cost a little more, but which support the local environment and the local economy."
