CARDINI'S

rhamar.com

First created in Cardini's restaurant 'Caesars', Cardini's dressings are made with premium quality ingredients, and have a rich, full flavour – perfect in a host of dishes. The classic Caesar salad makes a delicious main course for summer dining, and always goes down a storm when served as a fresh side at BBQs. Despite being one of America's most famous dishes, it was actually at 'Caesars' restaurant in Tijuana, Mexico, where the recipe was born. Legend has it that his restaurant was doing brisk business on American Independence Day and running short on ingredients. Cardini improvised with the food that he had and created the world-famous Caesar salad. He then created the dressing. The classic mix of creamy sauce and lettuce is now loved across the globe, and home cooks can enjoy a taste of history with a drizzle of the original Caesar dressing on their own creations. For those looking to bring a Caesar twist to other dishes, the dressing also makes a great accompaniment for baked potatoes, or an alternative to mayonnaise or creamy pasta sauce.

GRUYÈRE AOP

Made in western Switzerland, Gruyère AOP has been produced in the same way since 1115AD, using raw milk from cows fed on grass in summer and hay in winter. The skilled cheesemakers use 400 litres of fresh milk to make a single 35kg Gruyère AOP wheel. It is the only cheese that has won the title of Best Cheese in the World at the World Cheese Awards four times, which just goes to show how much work and skill is needed to create its unique and delicious flavour. Gruyère AOP can be found with different maturities: the Classic is matured for a minimum of five months and has a delicate, nutty, creamy flavour. The Reserve is matured for a minimum of ten months and has a drier, more grainy mouthfeel, with a stronger flavour. The age brings a difference in taste but the recipe always stays the same.

7 WAYS RETAILERS CAN ATTRACT GEN Z SHOPPERS

1 Tom Gatehouse, senior trends strategist at Egg Soldiers, says there's no 'right way' to grab Generation Z's attention, but it's "pretty clear that establishing an organic connection between them, your brand and your products yields fruit".

2 According to UK POS, 54% of Millennials and 51% of Gen Z say they are most likely to shop for food and drink in a physical shop, with 81% saying this is because they find being out and about in the 'real world' provides relief from the stress of the online world. This poses a golden opportunity for independents, though UK POS adds retailers should not rest their laurels entirely on the products they stock. "They have to offer something more."

3 UK POS reports Gen Z and Millennials prefer shopping at small, local businesses where they can reach out and make connections. If your business has strong community ties or champions local causes, make sure you shout about what you're doing.

4 As Gen Z are looking more keenly at ingredient decks, checking for clear messaging and choosing interesting flavour profiles, Hannah Wheater from The Flava People says these are all considerations for brands and retailers, who must also up their game digitally to stay ahead of the curve. "Gen Z consumer shopping habits are hugely influenced by digital means. Retailers need to be conscious of how they're marketing to this demographic, and not just scooping them into the same category as other consumer groups." She says stores should "tweak" their offering and tone of voice through digital marketing efforts.

5 According to Statista, though they value ethics and quality, Zoomers aren't afraid to sit around and wait for products to land in the 'yellow sticker' section, or be discounted. Work out what these shoppers are after in your shop, and see how you can better promote or run offers on products they're attracted to, to entice impulse buying and build future loyalty.

6 Gen Z are heavy smartphone users. Lean into this and entice them in-store with online in-store only deals, loyalty schemes and the opportunity to click and collect.

7 Farm shops and delis need to understand Gen Z and cater to them, says Edward Berry of The Flying Fork. "If you're only selling traditional cuts of meat, and things they don't understand, you'll lose them. Make sure your comms are aimed at them. They are looking for fun, modern messages. They want to know about sourcing and food miles. They will ask more challenging questions. They want an experience. and there's no reason why independent retail can't give them that."
